DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of group II, claims 14, 15 and 16-22 in the reply filed on 11/28/2007 is acknowledged.

Thus, claims 1-13 are withdrawn from further consideration as being drawn to non-elected inventions.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

1. Claims 14-20 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Claims 14-20, 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification does not reasonably provide enablement for treating liver damage associated with oxidative stress by administering pinitol or chiroinositol.

The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

In this regard, the application disclosure and claims have been compared per the factors indicated in the decision In re Wands, 8 USPQ2d 1400 (Fed. Cir., 1988) as to undue experimentation. The factors include:

- 1) the nature of the invention;
- 2) the breadth of the claims;
- 3) the predictability or unpredictability of the art
- 4) the amount of direction or guidance presented;
- 5) the presence or absence of working examples;
- 6) the quantity of experimentation necessary;
- 7) the state of the prior art; and,
- 8) the relative skill of those skilled in the art;

With respect to the Wands factors above (particular as they pertain to the quantity of experimentation necessary as well as the state of the prior art within the medical field), Applicants have not reasonably demonstrated/disclosed that the claimed pinitol or chiroinositol is useful as a treatment for liver damage associated with oxidative stress by administering pinitol or chiroinositol.

Applicants have attempted to enable treatment by attempting to enable prevention but one cannot enable treatment by treating subjects which do not have the claimed condition. Applicant argues that they have support for treating liver damage caused by oxidative stress on page 3, lines 16-19 and examples 3-6 of the instant specification, but upon closer inspection of the specification it is clear that this "support" is actually for prevention of the condition which does not find support in the instant specification since preventing the claimed condition and treating the claimed condition are two different things. In the examples, it is clear that the applicant is trying to prevent the condition and not treat the condition since the condition does not yet exist in the mice.

Accordingly, it would take undue experimentation without a reasonable expectation of success for one of skill in the art to use the instantly claimed composition in a manner so as to provide the functional effect instantly claimed.

As applicants themselves admit on page 1 of the instant specification the instant invention can encompass treating hepatitis.

Enclosed in an article from "USA today" which documents that not all hepatitises can be treated. Thus, the state of the art is that hepatitis is not always treatable and thus the claims are not enabled.

Therefore, the claims do not find enablement from the instant specification.

2. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
